A little humor, but a lot of truth, enjoy!

The Mortgage “Ten Commandments”

1. Thou shall not even think about buying a new car until after the loan closes.
2. Thou shall not buy any new furniture or appliances for the new house until after the loan closes. You can look all you want...you just can't buy.
3. Thou shall forget about establishing (or seeking to establish) credit for absolutely anything until after the loan closes.
4. Thou shall not make any large deposits of undocumented cash...EVER. And if you do a deposit, make a copy of all paperwork.
5. Thou shall leap mountains to get requested documentation to mortgage consult. in a prompt manner.
6. Thou shall not change, quit or terminate jobs until after the loan closes.
7. Thou shall be able to fully document the source of any and all gift funds or fund transfers from one account to another.
8. Thou shall be patient with overworked employees of title companies, appraisal companies, survey companies, inspectors, government agencies and your loan processor.
9. Thou shall not delay appraisers, surveyors or inspectors from doing their job because a bed is not made or a dish is not clean.
10. Thou shall enjoy a quick loan transaction when the above commandments are obeyed.
